

1903 - Cohan - Always leave them laughing when you say goodbye (version Billy Murray 1907)

tempo: ± 135 BPM

tonic 0: -3 steps from 440 Hz (12 steps: frequency × 2)
for my voice: probably better to use -9 steps

My	0 { +4 } dad would never preach to me, in	fact he'd never	teach to me
the	different things that I should do when	-5 { +4 } I'd be here and	there.
In	-5 { +4, +10 } fact he said: "Go on alone.	You have ideas	of your own
You'll	never lose if you will use the	0 { +4 } others fair and	square."
That's	just as far as he'd advised,	'till one day to	my surprise
I	-3 { +4 } went to say that I was going to	+2 { +3 } -3 { +4 } other lands to	+2 { +3 } live.
And	+2 { +4 } -5 { +4 } as I went to say goodbye he	+2 { +4 } saw a teardrop	-5 { +4 } in my eye.
Said	-7 { +4 } he: "My lad oh that's too bad, I've	+2 { +4 } some ad- vice to	-5 { +4 } give:
	0 { +4 } Always leave them laughing when you Everyone was laughing when a Everyone was laughing as the Everyone was laughing as the	+2 { +4, +10 } say goodbye; band went by. jay went by. car flew by:
